Historical Context of Pre-Islamic Iranian Literature

Origins and Development

The roots of Iranian literary tradition extend deep into the prehistoric and proto-historical periods, with evidence of oral storytelling and poetic recitations. As settled societies emerged, these oral traditions gradually coalesced into written forms, especially during the Achaemenid, Parthian, and Sassanian eras. The advent of writing in Old Persian during the Achaemenid Empire (550-330 BCE), exemplified by inscriptions like the Behistun Inscription, marked the beginning of recorded literary activity. However, much of the early literature was transmitted orally, preserving myths, legends, and religious hymns.

Influence of Zoroastrianism

Zoroastrianism, the dominant religion of Persia from the 6th century BCE onward, profoundly influenced literary production. Sacred texts such as the Avesta, which contains hymns (Gathas), liturgical rituals, and mythological stories, are among the earliest known religious literature of Iran. The Avesta not only served as a religious manual but also as a literary masterpiece that conveyed cosmological themes, moral principles, and the dualistic battle between good and evil.

The Avesta: Contains mythological hymns and stories about creation, divine figures, and cosmic battles, serving as a poetic and religious text.

Religious and Philosophical Texts

Religious literature, primarily the Avesta, reflects the spiritual worldview of ancient Iranians. Gathas: The oldest part of the Avesta, attributed to Zoroaster himself, consisting of hymns that express theological and moral themes. Pahlavi Texts: Later Middle Persian writings that interpret and expand upon Zoroastrian doctrines, often in poetic prose.

Historical and Chronicle Literature

While less abundant, some pre-Islamic texts serve as chronicles of kings and historical events. The Behistun Inscription: An imperial inscription by Darius the Great that recounts his victories and legitimacy. The Denkard: A 9th-century Pahlavi text that includes historical anecdotes and religious doctrines.
